

This is a detailed architectural floor plan of a large, rectangular building. The central feature is a large, open hall with a high ceiling, indicated by a large rectangle with a diagonal line. This central hall is surrounded by numerous smaller rooms and corridors. On the left side, there are several rooms of varying sizes, some with internal partitions. On the right side, there are more rooms, including a large one with a staircase. The bottom of the plan shows a series of rooms, possibly a kitchen or service area, with a central island. The entire building is enclosed by a thick, irregular border, suggesting a foundation or exterior wall. The drawing is a black and white line plan, typical of architectural blueprints.
